J'lem Body Against University in T.A.

Opposition to the establishment of a university in Tel Aviv and a proposal to appoint a special authority to coordinate Jerusalem development projects were brought before the Prime Minister, Mr. Moshe Sharet, yesterday by a delegation of the Committee for Jerusalem.

THE DELEGATION CONSISTED OF

Mr. Meir Grossman, Head of the Jewish Agency's Economic Department, (former sponsor of the Committee); Mr. Menachem Elimelech, President of the Chamber of Commerce; Mr. Moshe Sharet, President of the Jewish Labor Council; and Mr. N. Lifschitz, of the Manufacturers Association.

Jerusalem's economic development

Proposal Would Stop Delays in Salaries

By Our Knesset Correspondent

A proposal by Mr. M. Ussis (Labor) which would prohibit delays in the payment of wages to day laborers was placed on the Knesset agenda yesterday after the Minister of Labor, Mr. Golda Myerson, said she had no objection.

The Minister stated that, insofar as the Government and the Jewish Agency were concerned, the situation had greatly improved. A comprehensive wage law was now being drafted and would be tabled early in the life of the Third Knesset.

A motion by Mr. Ben-Asher (Mapai) on the preservation of deer and the coral deposits off Eilat was referred to committee.

Mr. S. Zymman (General Zionists) proposed that in order to attract well-to-do immigrants, the Government should exempt from the Finance Committee, with the Finance Minister, Mr. L. Eshkol.

It was too late now to change the date fixed for Knesset elections, the Minister of Interior, Mr. Moshe Sharet, said.

Mr. Ben-Ya'acov (Agudat Yisrael), Mr. Ben-Ya'acov had pointed out that July 26, the date fixed, fell on the 7th of Ab, during the nine days of mourning, and that the election spirit would be out of harmony with the period.

Employers Must Give Severance Pay

The obligation of an employer to give workers severance pay has been recognized by the courts, the Minister of Labor, Mr. Golda Myerson, said in the Knesset yesterday. She was replying to an interpellation by Mr. L. Rubin (Mapai) whether the Minister thought there was need for a law on the subject.

History had taught that collective wage agreements guaranteed the payment of compensation on dismissal and that with the adoption of the Bill on Collective Agreements this right would be further fortified.

IL500,000 Fund Set For Golomb Museum

TEL AVIV, Wednesday.—A IL500,000 fund for the Eliahu Golomb Museum is to be created in and around his former house at 28 Shidlovsky Road in Tel Aviv, has been launched by a public committee headed by Mrs. Golda Myerson, the Minister of Labor.

"We just could not bear the idea that the house where so much of our history was made would be razed and an office building erected in its stead," Mrs. Myerson told pressmen yesterday.

The funds, she said, were needed to purchase the plot and build an upper story in which the Golomb Museum would be lodged. The plan for the Golomb House was approved by a Ministerial Committee headed by Prof. Yehoshua Diner, Minister of Education, three months ago.

Prof. Y. Rutenberg, one of Golomb's comrades-in-arms, has designed the plan for the museum.

Mr. Yehuda Arad, another colleague of the head of the Hagana, said that every former Hagana member was asked to contribute at least the price of one brick to the building.

Min. The names of Hagana members will be recorded and their part inscribed in a special book.

Honors should address their contributions to the Eliahu Golomb House account at the Bank Leumi.

Einstein Was Rambam's Ideal Sage

Jerusalem Post Reporter

"The Albert Einstein, mankind's greatest light reached his highest manifestation," Professor Benjamin Diner, Minister of Education and Culture, stated last night at a memorial meeting sponsored by the Government and the Hebrew University on the 50th day after the death of the scientist.

The audience, which filled the Y.M.C.A. Hall in Jerusalem, sat before a flower-decked platform commemorated by an oil portrait of Einstein. Among those present were the Prime Minister, Mr. Moshe Sharet; the Finance Minister, Mr. Levi Eshkol; the Ambassador to Great Britain, Mr. Eliahu Elath; the Soviet Ambassador, Mr. A. Abramov; Mr. Chaim Weizmann and University professors and students.

Einstein was the ideal sage described by Maimonides, Professor Diner declared, on whose "directs his intellect to exploring nature with a view to attaining the highest possible degree of knowledge and understanding of God." It was the realization that a supreme intelligence manifests itself in the world and the conviction that man as a thinking being must find meaning in his own life and in the lives of his fellow human beings that made Einstein declare that "the true scientific investigator is always profoundly religious," the Minister stated.

Dr. G. Raush, Professor of Theoretical Physics at the Hebrew University, who briefly outlined the discoveries of the physicist, stated that "Einstein's laboratory existed in his brain; the only instrument he used in addition to paper and pencil was mathematical logic."

Of the three fundamental works published by Einstein in 1905 — on the Brownian motion, on the theory of relativity and on the photoelectric effect — it was for the last he won the Nobel Prize which was awarded "for the discovery of new facts and not for abstract theories."

If not for the last discovery, "Einstein might have had to wait for the Nobel Prize until 1945 when the Hiroshima explosion proved conclusively that the theory of relativity is not merely an abstract theory but a concrete fact," Professor Raush declared.

Einstein's attempts during the last 30 years to include within the theory of relativity electric and magnetic forces did not yield the results he sought. "Perhaps hundreds of years will have to elapse before another genius arises who will realize the last dream of the genius of our generation," Professor Raush concluded.

"The meeting opened with Rav's 'Kaddish' played by a chamber orchestra, and concluded with the playing of a song from Einstein's notebook," Dr. Raush stated.

At first the Institute refused, but later agreed, up to a maximum of IL250, when the Legal Department of the Ministry filed a suit against the Institute.

5-Man Election Committee For 2-Man Electorate

Jerusalem Post Reporter

Five-man Election Committees are to supervise the voting for the Third Knesset at each of the 184 polls in the Jerusalem area, including that of the two-man electorate at Deir Yassin in the Corridor.

This was decided yesterday in Jerusalem by the District Election Committee which met under the chairmanship of Mr. Asher Levitzky, the advocate.

There will be 125 polls within Jerusalem proper and 46 in the Corridor. They will be open continuously from 8 a.m. to 11 p.m. on July 26. Mr. Levitzky announced that all members of the Election Committee would be exempt from reserve duty in the army until August 15.

Several members of the Committee noted yesterday that newcomers had been "warned" that the vote would not be secret, which looked through the walls of the voting booths to see how each vote was cast.

'Law Needed On Kashrut Question'

The Knesset Interior Committee has adopted a resolution declaring that there is need for a law against fraud in matters of kosher and non-kosher food, it was announced yesterday. Mr. M. Perl (Mapai) submitted a minority report stating that the problem was covered by existing laws.

The committee's action followed a motion for the same, by Mr. S. Lorence (Agudat Yisrael) on May 26, 1954, and the appointment of a sub-committee headed by Mr. M. Chama (Hapoel Hamizrabi).

Lower Maize Costs Prevent Milk Rise

The price of imported maize seed sold by the Government will be reduced from IL180 per ton to IL150, a Ministry of Finance spokesman stated yesterday. The reduction has been made possible because of a price drop in the international market.

It can be assumed that because of the decline, the special Government committee considering possible rises in the price of milk will not recommend such rises.

Swiss Pilgrims Pleased

The friendliness and hospitality found in Israel were stressed last night by Mr. J. Schmid, General Visitor of the Bishops of Basel, who is heading a group of 70 Swiss Catholic churchmen and laymen on a pilgrimage to Christian holy places in the Middle East.

He was speaking at a farewell dinner held last night at Jerusalem's Or Olam Hotel. The group, which is leaving a two-day tour by the group of the Galilee and Jerusalem, Dr. Meir Vardi, of the Ministry of Religious Affairs, greeted the visitors.

The pilgrimage is arranged every three years by the Caritas church organization in Switzerland. The tour of Israel was arranged by the Globe Travel Service.

Rokach Summoned on Petah Tikva Budgets

The Supreme Court sitting at the High Court of Justice yesterday in Jerusalem issued an order nisi against the Minister of the Interior calling upon him to show cause within 30 days why he should not approve the Ordinary and Development Budgets of Petah Tikva Municipality for the 1955-56 and 1956-57 fiscal years. The application was submitted by Mr. P. R. Rokach, Mayor of Petah Tikva, through Mr. I. Harari, M.K.

Mr. Harari said that the Minister had objected to the town's high property tax and therefore had refused to approve the budgets, thus depriving the town of Government grants and loans.

The Municipality was not entering its third year without an approved budget, Mr. Harari noted, and "could not exist one day without a budget."

Justice Olshan, the President, asked with a smile, "From a legal or realistic viewpoint?"

Mr. Harari replied that "realistic" was the correct word, but from a legal viewpoint.

When Justice Silberg asked, "How can the Municipality maintain itself for three years?" Mr. Harari replied that "this was a matter for the State Controller."

Mr. Harari noted that if the Minister had not used his authority to dissolve the Municipal Council, this "proved" that the town was being run properly and that the budgets should therefore be approved.

Justice Olshan asked, "Perhaps there will be a request to dissolve the Council?" and Mr. Harari answered, "We are ready to do this in the present situation."

Justice Olshan noted that he had doubts whether the Court should deal with the matter and whether it had the jurisdiction over the Minister's authority to approve budgets.

The Court was composed of Justices Olshan, Silberg and Sussman. (Times)

Orphan's Welfare Decisive In Deciding Adoption, Court Rules

The welfare of an orphan is the decisive factor in determining his adoption.

The Supreme Court sitting at the High Court of Justice yesterday in Jerusalem issued a ruling in favor of the adoption of a seven-year-old boy, born in Rumania, whose father died abroad and whose mother died in this country. In September, 1953, the Social Welfare Office placed the boy to live with Mr. and Mrs. I. Harari, who had been married for 10 years.

The Harari family became very attached to the lad and asked to adopt him legally, for they had come to "love him as their own son."

However, the boy's relatives, here and abroad, objected, wishing to send him to the U.S. where he would be adopted by his uncle, Mr. Ignaz Greenberger. Subsequently, Mr. Harari's application for adoption was rejected by the Haifa District Court which ruled that the boy's relatives "had shown much interest in him and had not neglected him."

Mr. Harari's appeal against this decision was heard by the Supreme Court yesterday. The lower court had ruled in favor of the Harari family, but the Social Welfare Office on the boy's behalf had appealed.

The Supreme Court therefore returned the file to the lower court which was asked to hear testimony on what was best for the lad, irrespective of his relatives' wishes.

The Court was composed of Justices Olshan, Deputy President, and Justices Silberg and Sussman. (Times)

first was that there was no cause to reject mediation in this matter if the arrangement itself was desirable, and if some international agreement was in the nature of things itself a necessity.

Further, the mediator in this case was offering very considerable financial assistance to both sides to enable them to carry out an agreed scheme more rapidly, more easily, and with greater economic security. "I think that these two reasons are sufficient to justify the Israel Government's having had recourse to mediation by the United States in this matter," the Prime Minister said.

He said that he rejected absolutely the suggestion made by Mr. Zimman that the Government was about to concede any of its rights. Negotiations had been entered into, not in order to yield to any pressure, but in order to obtain the undisturbed use of the water to which we are entitled for our needs, within the territory in which we have absolute and unrestricted sovereignty.

Mr. Sharet concluded with the assurance that no decisions had yet been reached in these negotiations, but at every stage in the discussions a detailed report had been presented to the Knesset Foreign Affairs and Defense Committee.

If agreement was reached, the Committee would again be informed, and would be given an opportunity of expressing its opinion. It would also be able to ask for a general debate if wished. At the present moment there was nothing which the Government could submit to the Knesset for approval, for it had itself not yet approved or rejected any definite proposals.

Knesset debates at this stage would be tantamount to sabotage of the negotiations, to be broken off at once could vote in favor of Mr. Zimman's proposal, but whoever wanted to make the most of the opportunities offered would vote for the Government request to have the motion struck off.

The motion was rejected, together with an alternative motion by Mr. Altman (Meretz), that it should be passed to the Foreign Affairs and Defense Committee for study, after a statement by Mr. M. Argov, the Committee's chairman, that it was already on the agenda.
